Who Will Dedicate Ohio's Monuments at Chicamauga.

Mysterious Case of a Xenia Hotel Guest, Who Was Stricken Speechless.

Warren Shaken Up by a Violent Thunder Storm—Mr. Vernon Drayman Bludgeoned—Alliance Farmer Fatally Kicked by a Horse—Gallipolis Doctor's Fatal Runaway—Officers of Pythian Home Re-elected—The Day in Ohio.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES. CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—The official program for the dedication of the Ohio monument at the Chickamauga battle-field has been issued. The meeting will be organized at Snodgrass Hill at 12 o'clock September 18th, General John Beatty presiding. Prayer will be offered by Bishop Joyce, and addresses will be made by Hon. Charles Grosvenor and ex-Governor Campbell. Then the reports by Secretary John H. Gill and Capt. J. C. McElroy, financial agent of the commission, followed by addresses by Aquila Wiley, Governor McKinley, Secretary of War Daniel Lamont, Andrew Jackson, James Watson and Frederick Wendell.

TERROR-STRIKEN CITIZENS

Fled from Their Homes During the Violent Storm at Warren Last Night.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES. WARREN, Sept. 6.—This city was visited by a violent thunder storm last night. All electric equipments were damaged and in some instances citizens fled terror-stricken from their homes. Several buildings were struck.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE.

A Hotel Guest Becomes Speechless, but Is Able to Write His Name.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES. XENIA, Sept. 6.—Monday evening a well dressed stranger got off the train from Springfield and asked to be directed to the Hotel Florence. He retired in apparent good health, but could not be aroused in the morning. The door was broken in and he was found speechless in bed. He subsequently became able to write the name of "H. E. McDonald, of near Yellow Springs." The case is very mysterious.

A Drayman Missing.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES. MT. VERNON, Sept. 6.—Ellis Veatch, a drayman, has been missing for a week. He went to Bowling Green to deliver a colt, and has not been heard from since. He secured his purchase money there.

A Horse's Fatal Kick.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES. ALLIANCE, Sept. 6.—Edward Oesch, a farmer, was fatally kicked by a vicious horse which he was leading to pasture this morning.

Pythian Home Officers.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES. SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 6.—The State Pythian Home trustees re-elected T. J. Collins, superintendent, his wife assistant and Mrs. Broderback of Toledo the matron.

A Fatal Runaway.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES. GALLIPOLIS, Sept. 6.—Dr. E. Westlake was probably fatally injured today in a runaway.

Troops Ordered to Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 6.—The entire force of troops from the regular army ordered by the secretary of war to proceed to Chattanooga, and establish a model military camp on Chickamauga battlefield, with the exception of two batteries of artillery from Jackson barracks, New Orleans, has arrived.

Pennsylvania Democrats.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 6.—This city is filled with visiting democrats in attendance on the seventh annual general assembly of the democratic societies of Pennsylvania. When the convention was called to order by Chauncey E. Black over 600 delegates answered to their names.

This Fair Is a Success.

Bailey Post, G. A. R., will hold a meeting tonight to take action in regard to visiting the national encampment at Louisville.

Miss Annie Barlow, who has been forewoman in the Heer Shoe factory since the starting up of that factory, has resigned her position and will go in the fitting room at the Padan factory.

THE MINSTREL SHOW

Puts Up a Good Performance at the Grand Opera House Last Evening.

When the curtain went up for the first part of the performance of Coleman & Heagler's minstrels at the Grand opera house last evening, there was a very fair audience present—the being three-fourths full. The performance opened in the usual way. This part was very good, many of the jokes sprung being new and good, and were greeted with hearty bursts of laughter. The company has some good singers. Robbarts, the male soprano being especially a very fine singer. Arthur Samson, the boy soprano is not much of a singer just now but may develop in time. Of the specialty performers Andrew Cooper, the Gallic club manipulator, whose clubs were armed with steel spikes, was excellent, one of the best that has ever been here. Robbarts the character artist and doubled voiced vocalist was good as was Thomas F. Smith, the elog dancer. The others were only fair.

OHIO LEADS.

Judge Holcomb Says Ohio Markings Are the Most Conspicuous at Chickamauga Battle Field.

The Cincinnati Post this morning had the following concerning Judge A. T. Holcomb of this city. Judge Holcomb arrived home last evening. Judge A. T. Holcomb was at the Denison hotel a few hours Thursday, en route from Chattanooga, Tenn., to his home at Portsmouth, O. The Judge spent Wednesday in looking over the great Chickamauga battle-field which is to be dedicated as a national military park Sept. 18, 19 and 20. To a Post reporter he said:

"I had no idea that this park was anything like the beautiful place. The drives are the most elegant I have ever seen. On the old battle-field still stands the old houses in which Grant, Garfield and the other generals made their headquarters. On the monuments and tablets appear a history so concise and complete as to arouse the imagination to a point where one fancies he can see the charge being made. The Ohio markings are by far the most conspicuous on the field. The Buckeye monuments are exquisite things, and the monuments of the other states do not compare with them. Minnesota has some very pretty monuments, but they are nothing like the Ohio ones."

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

Are Expected in the Perry Murder Case in Greenup County Before Long.

Residents of Greenup county are still talking of the Perry murder case and are determined to bring the guilty parties to justice. The "Mules" the secret order to which the murdered man belonged are working on the case and a member of order who was in the city today said they had struck a clue at last and that some sensational developments were expected before long. It will be remembered that Perry was found on Tygart Creek at Bennett's Mill with a store tied about his body about a year ago.

Eat Papaws.

The papaw crop this year is immense. The bushes are almost breaking down with the weight of the quick scented fruit. Bushels of them are being shipped to the Cincinnati market where they find a ready sale at 80 cents and one dollar a bushel.

Initiated Two Candidates.

Pride of Portsmouth lodge No. 2, K. of P. initiated two candidates last evening—Joe Glasgow and Grant Carter. The lodge now has twenty-seven members.

Is Seriously Sick.

Leo Startzman, of the East End, is seriously ill with bloody flux. Startzman is the young man who was cut with a razor by John Weatherwax in a quarrel over a game of cards not long since.

May Buy the Lodge.

Richard Junge, the Cincinnati gentleman who came here with the intention of opening a fine bar room, has not yet secured a location. He is negotiating with John Schuler for the Lodge Cafe and may purchase it.

OUR GAIN.

What the Dayton Papers Say of Mr. Geo. Miller, the New Agent of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. in This City.

Mr. Geo. Miller, successor of Mr. Rardin as agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., will bring his family to this city next week from Dayton. Mr. Miller is a very pleasant and clever gentleman and is the right man in the right place. The Dayton papers speak very highly and complimentary of Mr. Miller. The Evening News says: "The West Side loses one of its best citizens today in Mr. Geo. Miller, of Williams street, who goes to Portsmouth to accept a more responsible and remunerative position with the same company he has so long and faithfully served here. Dayton's loss is Portsmouth's gain in this case and all join in wishing George abundant success in his new field of labor."

Will Winter in Maysville.

Julius Arbogast, who disposed of his saloon to his bar keeper Alvin Schneider about a week ago, will probably spend the winter at Maysville, Ky. If his health improves sufficiently he will re-enter business here next summer.

Do you catch the perfume of the garage here these warm evenings? A little walk in that vicinity before breakfast is a good appetizer.

The next conflict in the East will be between Russia and Japan. Russia's dream has been to capture Korea, and soon the victorious Japs will be driven from their recently acquired possessions.

There is a tramp wheel works abroad. Lancaster is after it and has Marion for a competitor. It might be well to have these cities come to Portsmouth and interview her citizens before bidding.

The A. P. A. in Omaha are turning out Catholics without regard to their fidelity or capacity, while it protects the city treasurer who is $40,000 short. That is nothing new. Such things happen in other cities.

This way in which Gen. Charles Anderson starts the campaign machinery, it looks like it will be a campaign of "vigor and victory." Why shouldn't we get Campbell to come to Portsmouth. This is to be a campaign against bossism, and this is one of the counties in which bossism seems to flourish.

There is on foot in Philadelphia a move to unite all the young people's societies in an effort for municipal reform. The various bodies have a membership of 40,000, of which 14,000 are voters. This would be quite a formidable body if it started in earnest. Boss Quay may have on his hands a bigger reform than is desirable.

We suppose the readers of the Blade have seen in its columns this clipping from the New York Sun as it has made various clippings from that paper of late years:

A candidate for American votes, James E. Campbell, of Ohio, stands upon a platform as broad as the nation's faith in its might and destiny, and as beautiful as a sunrise over the mountains.

This platform was announced by Mr. Campbell just seven weeks ago today in a speech which he delivered before the ancient Society of Tammany in this town. The day was the Fourth of July, but the sentiments are good for every day in the year.

"Let it be understood, once for all, that the Monroe doctrine will never be abandoned. There are other American states besides Cuba which are threatened by every patriotic eye is turned for whose people every patriotic heart is flaming. Our relations with Hawaii, Nicaragua and Cuba may be a subject now with which statesmanship and diplomacy must deal.

A due regard for international law may demand of us in these cases present official neutrality, but there is no law to prevent us from indulging our national sympathy with every movement that tends toward national freedom, nor, while demanding, and, if necessary, enforcing justice to Venezuela, also repaying to Nicaragua, and success to the patriots in Cuba. Neither is power lodged anywhere to market our joyful anticipation of that happy day when, in peace and in honor, the flag of our country shall follow its manifest destiny, no matter where it may lead.

"Let it be well known and understood that any attempt by a non-American nation to seize a foot of American soil will be treated as a declaration of war against the United States."

"It has become somewhat fashionable of late with a few citizens of unwakened patriotism to carp at those who believe that this country, as the originator and avowed champion of the Monroe doctrine, is the natural protector of weaker American states. He who asserts this ancient principle, which Jefferson declared to be the most important since independence, is jeered at by hasty newspaper writers and fashionably dubbed a 'Jingo,' which is intended as a term of ridicule and disparagement. It is to be hoped, however, that those to whom this name is applied may live to see it no longer an epithet of attempted oppression, but a term of honor and respect, for, if to adhere to the Monroe doctrine, which seeks to uphold the power and dignity of the United States of America, is held in esteem in favor of the United States in 1896 who holds sentiments at variance with those which ex-Governor Campbell thus set forth in his speech of the Fourth of July, speech of James E. Campbell—New York Sun.

COUNCILMEN surely show good judgment in shutting out street commissioner in their pay rolls. Better make an ornament out of him and his little red wagon than to make him a sliver-way through which to waste the people's money.

Boss Higgins is a great man and like Boss Cox his past history might be of interest, as it was once published by the Blade, and to add a little savor to the little episode when Grand Phillips pummeled the "stuffer" out of him, making him blubber like a big overgrown schoolboy.

At a meeting of the postal employees in Philadelphia Postmaster General Wilson read a letter from a postmaster in Ohio who has been in service 61 years, being appointed by Jackson. At that time it cost 6 1/2 cents to send a letter 30 miles, 13 1/2 cents to send one 150 miles and 18 1/2 cents to send one 400 miles. It took two pounds of butter and four dozen of eggs, the old postmaster wrote, to pay for the transmission of a letter to Washington and a fairly fat Ohio cow would only pay for the transmission of 32 letters to the national capital.

The enormous appreciation of the stock of gold mining corporations shows the expected appreciation to take place in that metal in the near future. The Pittsburgh Post says: "The English banks in the case of the wild speculation and the discarding sound American securities, it has been taking the direction of South African gold mine shares. The wildest schemes of inflation in American speculation hardly equal what the conservative Britishers are now doing. The Johannesburg consolidated investment company has a nominal capital of $6,000,000 while its total shares have a market value in London of more than $30,000,000, all within a year. Dealings in the South African banking company were commenced in London on the 10th of August, and within a week shares were selling at a price equivalent to a valuation of all of more than $40,000,000. In the case of nine mining properties, capitalized within the last year, with one exception, at $2,550,000, the present market value is $7,330,000, an appreciation of more than 400 per cent, and one company has gone up over 700 per cent in the market value of its shares. But the total dividends paid by all these companies has been only $500,000, and the whole of this by one company. The case of a gold claim is reported that cost $30,000, and sold for $800,000."

"It appears from a statement made by a South African correspondent of the London 'Economist' that, while the shareholders have invested a great deal of cash, the profits have gone elsewhere. The whole output of the combined Whitewaters and mines in 1894 was roughly of the value of $30,000,000, and while the profits ought to have been $12,500,000, the dividends actually paid amounted to but $7,400,000, and this on a share capital with a market value of $60,000,000."

The "Economist" predicts a larger output of gold this year and next, but does not look for larger dividends, as the mines are in the control of speculators and the wildest of speculative gambling prevails. All manner of schemes are devised and executed. The "worst abuses that prevailed in the American stock market during the worst period of its history" now characterize South African gold operators. John Bull stands to get as well plucked as he did in South America.

The time will come when the gold fields of the world will be owned by vast syndicates like the Standard Oil company and the standard of value will be centered like which on the Chicago board of trade and the business of the world will be in the hands of the money changers.

SUGAR BOUNTY.

The Controller of the Currency Gives His Decision.

The Whole Matter Referred to the Court of Claims for Adjustment.

The Controller Asserts His Right to Refuse the Payment of These Claims on the Ground of the Unconstitutionality of the Appropriation Act.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The long-expected and much-anticipated decision of Mr. E. B. Bowler, controller of the treasury in the sugar bounty cases, was made public Thursday afternoon.

As predicted ten days ago the controller refers the whole matter to the court of claims for adjudication. The particular case decided was the claim of the Grand Beet Sugar Co. of Nebraska, for the payment of a portion of the sugar bounty appropriated in the sundry civil bill passed by the last congress. The amount involved in this case was only $11,782.50, being the first claim allowed by the commission of internal revenue, under an appropriation of $38,000 to pay the producers of beet sugar or cane sugar previous to the 28th of August, 1894, when the sugar bounty provisions of the McKinley law were repealed. But the decision, of course, involves the constitutionality of all sugar bounties.

The controller first asserts his jurisdiction over the matter and his right to refuse payment of these bounties on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the appropriation. He quotes the decision of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, in a suit brought before them by the Miles Plant Manufacturing Co. of Louisiana, for a mandamus to compel the secretary of the treasury and the commissioner of internal revenue to pay the sugar bounties provided by the McKinley law and holds in substance that that court having decided all such bounties to be unconstitutional, its decision was of internal revenue, its decision was of internal revenue, its decision was of internal revenue.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—A telegram was received at the state department from Commander Pringle, charge d'affaires in Guatemala, stating that there is no doubt that Robert P. Breckinridge and C. G. Coff, American citizens, charged with murder, will be cleared of the charge.

A SHERIFF SUICIDES.

He Shooked His Own Hand and His Feet, Then Cut His Throat With a Razor.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., Sept. 6.—At 2 p. m. Thursday, while the board of supervisors were in session in the chamber clerk's office, they discovered that blood was streaming down the wall from the courtroom above. They rushed to the sheriff's office upstairs, and finding the door locked they broke it down and rushed in. A revolting sight greeted them. Sheriff Robert A. McWilliams had committed suicide. He lay prostrate upon the floor, fastened in his own blood. He had fastened a handkerchief on his left hand and locked it to a table. He had also shackled his feet tight together, and then with his own razor cut his throat from ear to ear, severing every vein. He still breathed, and doctors were summoned and every effort made to save his life, but he died in a short time.

The only cause assigned for Sheriff Williams' suicide is mental depression, caused by a physical breakdown. He has not been well for several months past.

Aged Engineer Dead.

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., Sept. 6.—After suffering six months from gangrene, Peter Stevens, aged 73 years, died Thursday.

He was recognized as the oldest engineer in the country, and had run locomotives on the Lehigh Valley, Reading and Jersey Central roads for 40 consecutive years. He never had an accident. Railroaders concede that Stevens has run locomotives a distance equivalent to forty times around the globe.

The Durrant Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The second day of testimony taking in the Durrant case was productive of nothing startling and of but two points of importance. The day was taken up principally with the introduction of maps of the church and surroundings and photographs of outside points. All such exhibits for both sides are now in and the preliminaries may be considered completed.

Killed by an Iron Bar.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—Wm. Schwab and Michael McDonald engaged in a fight while working on the levee Thursday. Schwab killed McDonald with an iron bar and fled. A mob of 100 workmen gave chase and the murderer jumped into the river and began swimming down stream. Two of the pursuers got a small boat, and overtook and arrested the murderer.

Sound Money Democrats Name a Ticket.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 6.—The Democrats of Nebraska, who are supporters of the administration, financial policy, opposed to free silver coinage and fusion with populists, met in convention here Thursday afternoon to nominate a candidate for justice of the supreme court and two candidates for regents of the university.

Window Glass Manufacturers Combine.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6.—The Pennsylvania window glass manufacturers met in this city Thursday and formed a combination similar to the powerful Indiana pool. The two pools will work together and control ninety per cent. of the window glass output of the country.

Lavigne and Griffe to Fight.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Alex. Lavigne and Young Griffe have arranged to fight within three weeks' time at the Empire Athletic club at Mespech, L. I., for a purse of $500. The lads are to box twenty rounds at 155 pounds. Articles to this effect were signed Thursday.

Little Hope for Martin Adams.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—There is little likelihood that anything will be introduced before the state pardon board at its present meeting that will justify it in recommending executive clemency for Martin Adams, the condemned murderer.

QUITE ROMANTIC.

A Wedding That Took Place Last Spring Just Made Public.

Mr. Vernon O. Sept. 6.—A romantic marriage has come to light here, Calvin V. Trott, attending Hiram college, while home on his vacation last spring quietly slipped up to Mansfield with Miss Alice Dixon, an accomplished young lady of this city, who attended Harcourt Place seminary, of Gambier, and the couple were married by Rev. Danton Remba, of the M. E. church, of that city, on April 23.

They then returned to this city and separated, going to their respective schools. There was no opposition on the part of the parents, but the young folks were made that experts had discovered crookedness in their investigations of city department. Statements were made that everybody connected with the municipal government was involved. The facts of the matter are serious enough. It is said, to warrant a thorough investigation by the grand jury, but there is only one department involved. The department of the alleged discrepancies are said to have occurred in the administration of John R. Miller. One report is to the effect that the shortage is way up in the thousands.

ALLEGED CROOKEDNESS

Discovered in the Municipal Government of Toledo by Experts.

Toledo, O., Sept. 6.—A sensation was created Thursday when state-ments were made that experts had discovered crookedness in their investigations of city department. Statements were made that everybody connected with the municipal government was involved. The facts of the matter are serious enough. It is said, to warrant a thorough investigation by the grand jury, but there is only one department involved. The department of the alleged discrepancies are said to have occurred in the administration of John R. Miller. One report is to the effect that the shortage is way up in the thousands.

THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—An advisory committee of Grand Master Dryfus of the Ohio Oddfellows met here and adopted a recommendation that subordinate lodges, which issued circulars instructing their members to perform certain acts contrary to the law of the order as constituted by the highest officers, should be held to be in a state of insubordination. The action thus taken was due to the issuing of circulars by the I. O. O. F. lodges of Zanesville.

Ex-Gov. Campbell Will Not Attend.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—The Ohio Chikamauga battle-field committee, having received word from ex-Gov. James E. Campbell that in all probability he will not be able to attend the dedication exercises. He had been counted upon for an oration, and Gen. Grosvenor, of Athens, who has charge of the programme, will hold it open for a few days in hopes Mr. Campbell will be able to adjust his affairs so as to be with the Buckeye veterans at Chickamauga.

Association of Democratic Editors.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—An Association of Democratic Editors of Ohio for concerted and effective work in the campaign was formed here Thursday, with the following officers: President, S. M. McMillen, of Springfield; Vice President, R. H. Cressler, Findlay; Secretary, W. A. Taylor, Columbus; Treasurer, Delbert C. Jones, Columbus. Executive committee: A. R. Van Cleave, of Circleville; Daniel Finnagan, Marysville, and A. B. Roberts, Alliance.

Wages Advanced Ten Per Cent.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 6.—A voluntary advance of 10 per cent. was given the blast furnace employees of the valley by the owners at a meeting held Thursday afternoon. This restores the former wages of $1.65 for bottom fillers. The advance was voluntary, no demand having been made by the men. About two thousand men are affected.

Capt. Becker Dead.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 6.—A dispatch from St. Catharines, Ont., says: Capt. Davis Becker, of Cleveland, O., who was so terribly injured in the steamer St. Magnus fire at Port Dalhousie Thursday morning, died in the hospital here Thursday afternoon. Upon his death, I. O. O. F., took charge of the remains which will be sent to Cleveland.

An Ohio Convict Escapes.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—Geo. Blackburn, a notorious convict, who has served thirty years on different sentences in the Ohio state prison, escaped from that prison Thursday afternoon. He is 35 years old, and was serving a ten-year sentence for burglary committed in Hocking county.

THE MYSTERY OF BENITA

VII.—FOR JOSEPHINE SAKE.

The slam of the door aroused M. Droubet to action.

He cast a hunted look about him and darted toward the rear door, but he stopped in the doorway and beaded him off.

He hesitated a moment, and then, confronting me, he asked: "Who are you, mister?"

"I have told you," I replied. "And you come from Mr. Croneau?"

"I nodded. I cannot tell you how surprised I was that this name, chosen at random, should have so powerful an effect upon this member of the gang of thieves who had conspired to plunder the mines of Benita. But in the course of the night I had just seen M. Droubet was in my power, I resolved to end the matter at once.

"Look you," I said, sternly. "I am a French detective, and I have discovered that the thieves who have so long robbed the mines of Benita. But in the course of the night I had just seen M. Droubet was in my power, I resolved to end the matter at once.

"But there was no time to say more. Like a shot Droubet had turned and darted from the door, and when I reached it a moment later he had disappeared in the passing throng.

How to act in an emergency of this kind puzzled me. Should I call upon the Parisian police to assist me in capturing this man? So far I had acted entirely alone, and I had at present no authority to pursue and capture the thief. Coming to Paris in pursuit of evidence, I had stumbled upon my man at once; but now that I knew him for a receiver of the stolen diamonds I felt myself powerless to act until I had more direct evidence of his guilt.

The first thing I did was to lock the street door. Then I re-entered the little back room and was rejoiced to find the oak door slightly ajar. Had it been closed I should have required a locksmith to open it, and at present I preferred to work alone.

I pushed open the door and entered. It was Droubet's workshop, and was composed of four solid brick walls, lighted from a skylight, and with no means of egress excepting the oak door.

In the center of the room was a bench containing the implements required by a diamond cutter, and one or two half-cut stones also lay upon it.

There was another bench behind the door, and when I turned toward it I stopped abruptly, while my heart seemed turned to stone as I realized what a revelation confronted me. Piled upon the back of the bench were more than a score of brightly bound books. One was lying open before me, and the leaves were perforated with a round hole near the edge.

A steel file, used for cutting this hole, stood beside the book, and under the bench were several new packing cases.

With a horrible fear at my heart—a sickening certainty of what I should see, I turned over one of the cases and found it marked:

"M. JULES CRONEAU,
Bookseller,
14th Street, New York."

I snuck into a chair and buried my face in my hands. This, then, was the result of my long search—the search whose reward was to have been the happiness of my darling Josephine. I had been so joyous a day before; I had thought myself so near the speedy termination of my task! That very evening as I walked to

All this happened years ago; I am an old man now. I have lived to see Josephine's happy face through many years reward me for the suppression of my secret, and she died trusting to meet her father in paradise. Our children have grown up and scattered to homes of their own; the mines of Benita are long since abandoned, and their owners are dust.

And so, perhaps, it is fitting that my life's story should at last be told.

TRAMPS BURNED.

It is believed Eight of Them Met Death in a Fire Near Norristown, Pa.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 6.—It is now believed that at least eight tramps met their death early Thursday morning by the burning of a large barn belonging to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. near Earnest Station in Plymouth township. Six bodies have already been recovered and the debris has not all been cleared away. The barn had been a rendezvous for tramps for years.

What adds to the gruesomeness of the catastrophe is the fact that there is strong evidence that one, if not more, of the victims had been murdered.

Another Bomb for Rothschild.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—A bold attempt was made Thursday to explode a bomb in Rothschild's bank, in the Rue La Fayette. While the business of the day was at its height a man walked into the bank carrying under his arm a bomb, to which was attached a lighted fuse. One of the detectives employed in the bank was standing near, sprang upon the man, seized the bomb and extinguished the fuse in time to prevent an explosion. The would-be bomb thrower was arrested and taken to the police station.

She Shot the Tramp.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 6.—Two tramps demanded bread of Julia Brown, a servant at the home of K. G. Pallman Thursday. The girl refused, saying that the dining room was locked. The tramps drew their clubs and threatened to murder her unless she gave them something to eat. On the pretense of getting the key, she returned with a revolver. She returned with a revolver. She returned with a revolver.

The Duke of York's Son.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Lancet, the leading medical journal of Great Britain, in an article taking notice of rumors which have been circulated through the American Press that the young son and heir of the duke of York is deaf and dumb, says: "He is a fine child, notably intelligent for his age, and already repeats a number of words. Do our go-ahead American cousins expect a child nowadays to speak as soon as it is born?"

The Advance Guard at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 6.—The advance guard of the Grand Army has arrived in Louisville, and the committees, having finished their heavy work, are holding themselves in readiness to receive the many arrivals that are expected Friday and Saturday. Those who are now coming are simply preparing the headquarters for the main body of their comrades.

Suit to Foreclose a Mortgage.

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 6.—The Presbyterian board of relief for disabled ministers and the widows and orphans of deceased ministers Thursday brought suit in the United States district court to foreclose a mortgage of $50,000, which it holds on the stone building of the Y. M. C. A. There is considerable interest due and unpaid. It is hoped to effect a compromise.

BLANK DRAFTS.

An Important Capture Made in Philadelphia.

Extensive Swindle of National Banks Nipped in the Bud.

Robert Ritson Arrested, Charged With Having Cashier's Drafts Printed on Different Banks, Among Them the Citizens' Bank of Louisville, Ky.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—What is believed to be an important capture was made by city detectives Thursday in the arrest of Robert Ritson, and it is thought an extensive swindle of national banks has been nipped in the bud. A few days ago a firm of printers here notified Chief of Detectives Miller that a stranger had given them an order for several blank drafts which were to be finished Thursday. Detectives were put on the case and they arrested Ritson immediately after he had received the drafts from the printers.

The drafts are known as cashier's drafts, and are drawn on the bank's correspondents in other cities. The Continental national bank, of New York, is the correspondent of the First national bank of this city, and for this Ritson had about fifty drafts printed. The other drafts were drawn on the Citizens' of Louisville, Ky., the Citizens' national of Milwaukee, the Boston Bank of Boston, Mass., and five New York banks. Ritson could not satisfactorily explain his object in having the drafts printed and he was held in $1,000 bail for further hearing.

DR. FRAKER.

Doubt as to the Man Arrested in Minnesota. Being the Doctor.

LIBERTY, Mo., Sept. 6.—Astounding developments, it is rumored here, may be developed in the Dr. Fraker insurance case before another twenty-four hours elapses. An official of one of the insurance companies who is here working on the case, it is said on good authority, sends the statement that the man captured in Minnesota is not the doctor. The name of the doubting official is not made public. Judge J. E. Lincoln, executor of the Fraker estate, said Thursday that they had not admitted yet that the prisoner is Fraker. All Judge Sandusky will say, however, is that it may or may not be Fraker.

Persons who know Fraker at Excelsior Springs, where the doctor lived before his memorable disappearance, will be here Thursday evening, when the question of identifying will be settled. A gentleman named Woodmansee, who knows Fraker for 15 years, saw the prisoner at Topeka. He declares that the man now in jail is not Fraker. The man under arrest, and who admits that he is Dr. George W. Fraker, is now locked up in the county jail at Richmond, Mo., where he will be held for examination for fraud.

Holmes to Be Tried in Philadelphia.

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—The local authorities have been notified that H. H. Holmes, the multi-murderer, will be placed on trial shortly at Philadelphia for the murder of Benjamin F. Pietzel, father of the two little girls whom Holmes is alleged to have murdered in a St. Vincent street cottage in this city. In the event of a failure to convict Holmes in Philadelphia, he will be handed over to the Indianapolis authorities, and after all attempts to convict him in the United States of a capital offense have proved abortive.

Her Eyesight All Right.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Before the opening of the Durran case Thursday morning, District Attorney Barnes stated in conversation that he had fully tested the eyesight of Mrs. Leary, who claims to have seen the accused and Miss Lamont enter the church by the side door on the afternoon of April 3 and that he had found her to be a competent witness.

Constable Convicted of Robbery.

YONGE, Pa., Sept. 6.—Charles Still, a constable and detective of this city for ten years, was Thursday morning found guilty in court of administering snuffing drugs with criminal intent and robbery. The evidence showed that Still administered a powder to Herbert J. Stough, with whom he had been drinking, and robbed him of $350.

Lady Students Strike.

ALLIANCE, O., Sept. 6.—The lady students of Mt. Union college had a meeting Wednesday and decided to boycott the gymnasium attached to the college until the faculty provided a lady instructor, which the faculty has promised to do.

Fever Infected Jail.

WHITESBURG, Ky., Sept. 6.—There are thirty-five persons confined in jail at this place, and out of the number twenty-five are very ill with typhoid fever.

Swimming Record Broken.

GLASGOW, Sept. 6.—Martin Thursday swam one hundred yards in one minute, seventeen and one-fifth seconds, beating the record for the distance.

An American Kills Himself.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Mr. R. F. Raymond, who is supposed to have been an American, and who registered from Paris, has committed suicide by shooting himself at the Grand hotel, in Brighton.

JOHN F. FLANNIGAN,

A NEW DAILY.

Gus Barlow Says the Daily Morning Press Is An Assured Fact.

And Will Knock Things Silly in the Newspaper World of Portsmouth—Some Hints and Suggestions on the Management of the New Paper Mr. Barlow May Profit By.

Portsmouth is going to have a new daily. That much is certain. Just when the new paper will start has not yet been decided. It may be inside of a week, and it may not be in running order for a month yet. But the new paper will come all right. At any rate Gus Barlow says so. Gus ought to know, for he is one of the movers or backers or whatever you call 'em to the scheme.

Barlow says the paper will be issued from the Press office and will be a morning daily. It will be called the "Daily Morning Press." Les Mann will be editor; a young man now doing newspaper work in Cincinnati will be city editor while two local newspaper men will make up the local force. Barlow will be business manager and Capt. N. W. Evans will furnish some of his interesting reminiscence articles.

We are not certain whether Barlow has arranged for his telegraph service or not, but if he hasn't we wish to warn him that he can't be too careful in arranging for this important detail. If he isn't careful he may find himself in the same fix as another morning daily published not over a thousand miles from Portsmouth.

In the first place Barlow will find that he cannot depend on railroads or telegraph wires for foreign news. The railroads ain't fast enough, and the telegraph office in Portsmouth closes at 8 o'clock and he can't get any specials after that hour.

On the quiet though, Barlow you can depend on the C. & O. railroad every night for a copy of the base ball edition of the Cincinnati Post. Then you can write up an able "special" to the Press telling all about the ball games. That's the way this other morning daily not over a thousand miles from here does.

The Times lately dropped onto the way in which this other morning paper, published not over a thousand miles from Portsmouth, gets its telegraph plate service from Cincinnati to Portsmouth, and though it's slightly unprofessional, through love for the Press and Barlow, we are impelled to give him a tip.

This other morning paper has established an ex-ent line from its office to Cincinnati!

This is a great scheme. By it the Ex-ent can get "telegraph" service only twenty days late! Wopare not joking. This is an actual fact, Mr. Barlow, and no miracle. Please remember that. If you don't believe it, just look at the issue of the Ex-ent of last Sunday morning, September 1st. You will find that all the "specials" and "telegrams" bear the dates of August 9, 10, and 12. Barlow, if you don't profit by this straight tip, you're a clump. Put in an opposition line, old man.

Since last Sunday something has gone wrong with the ex cart line, though and not a single cart has arrived at its destination. After a thorough investigation the Times has located these missing carts of telegraph and is prepared to tell an anxious public all about it.

Two carts are stalled between this city and Otway. Got caught in the rain and stuck in the mud up to the hub and can't move. Ed Walsh saw them yesterday on his way in from Otway and told the Times man about them. They may get in in ten days or two weeks.

The other carts met with a worse fate. It is feared they may never show up again. They came to grief in a secluded spot in a chestnut woods in the hills of Adams county. "Honey" Pyles who has charge of the special was driving along "reeing" and "hawing" when suddenly he was startled by the appearance of a wild, fierce looking man in the road in front of him.

"Shades of 'Boily' Boydston" murmured "Honey." He had recognized Zack Lewis, the Urbana forger, who is hiding there.

Zack motioned for Honey to stop. Honey stopped. "Come with me," said Zack. And Honey went.

Poor Pyles! He has not been seen since. It is thought Lewis read the account of his crimes in the telegraph, and was so enraged at the names he was called that he made a meal off Honey.

For the above reasons there have been no telegraph news in the Ex-ent of a paper since Sunday morning, and they have been reduced to using miscellaneous plate matter that has only been used in the same paper three or four times before.

Mr. Barlow will have to guard against all these things. There will be no excuse for failure on his part now that he has a good "tip."

So, sail in, Barlow. And may "the devil take the hindmost" in the race.

GOT JAGGED

And Wanted to Whip a Half-Brother of Charles Vastine—Arrested and Fined.

William Edington, who was elected marshal of Otway last spring, has been compelled to resign by the council of that village on account of being addicted to the use of intoxicants. Sam Leith was elected in his place.

The night after he was bounced Edington got on a burrah and during the evening got mixed up in a row with John Braden, a half-brother of Chas. Vastine, the murderer of Tou Pina. Several blows were exchanged when the new marshal appeared on the scene and arrested the whole outfit. Edington was fined by Mayor Hazelbaker.

Mrs. Geo. H. Finney, Sr., Dead.

Mrs. Geo. H. Finney, Sr., of Sciotoville, died Thursday evening after a lingering illness of several weeks of a complication of stomach and other troubles. Deceased was married about two years. She was 65 years old. The funeral was held this afternoon at Sciotoville, interment being in the Wheelersburg cemetery.

To Go to College.

Charles H. Fullerton will leave tomorrow for Hillsdale, Mich., where he will enter the college there. Mr. Fullerton was for some time in the probate judge's office here as deputy.

WANG HE CHANG.

A Third Cousin of Li Hung Chang, and One of the Wealthiest Chinamen in America, Stops Off Here a Few Hours.

A very stylishly dressed and handsome individual walked into the Biggs house last evening and with a proud and dignified air put his name on the register. It read, "Wang He Chang, New York." Mr. Chang called for the best room in the hotel, and after making obeisance to Clerk Higgins was shown up to 25. The gentleman was still in his room this morning at 10 o'clock when a Times man called at the Biggs. Mr. Chang is of royal ancestry, being only a third cousin removed from Li Hung Chang, commander of the Chinese forces in the late war between China and Japan. He came to this country several years ago and opened up a large establishment on Fifth avenue, New York city, for the sale of rare old Chinese porcelain, jades, ivories and curios, which he obtains direct from China. He is now enroute to his home in New York from San Francisco where he went to spend a few months with a brother who is also engaged in the same business of dealing in Chinese curios. He is very much pleased with America but expressed his intention of returning to his native land in a few years. He is reputed to be one of the wealthiest Chinamen in America.

He is a fluent, ready talker, his English diction being as pure, chaste and captivating as that of some old English romancer. He is a rapid talker never hesitating for a word and it is a great pleasure to listen to his eloquent flow of language. In dress he does not ape the common American Chinamen but goes attired in faultless American tailor made garments when on his travels. At home about his curio shop he is a typical Chinaman. He left on the C. & O. for New York this afternoon.

ONE BELL

Is What Sandy Woodrow Give the Street Railroad.

And They Stopped, but They Got Two Bells and Will Go On—A Little Difference of Opinion—Street Cars to Be Run Twice as Often as at Present.

The Street Railway company on the one side and the city solicitor and city engineer on the other side came together this morning on a little difference of opinion as to the powers and authority of the party of the first part. The solicitor was on the point of arresting the whole concern for tearing up the streets, when the officers of the road heard of his intentions and deputed in their work of destruction. It was a case of different constructions of the law but the difference will be settled amicably and without the threatened litigation and bloodshed.

It came about in this way. The Street Railway company has decided to improve the service by running cars within the city limits twice as often as at present. This would give a car every 7½ minutes. To do this it was necessary to put in an additional switch between the Officers street switch and the one on Chillicothe street and to utilize the one on Second at Market street. They decided to lay the new switch on Ninth between John and Findlay and this morning workmen started to do so. Some one complained to the engineer and he in turn reported to Solicitor Woodrow.

The solicitor decided to get out an injunction, but the work of laying the switch was progressing rapidly, and might be completed before the necessary papers could be prepared, and he decided to arrest the workmen and officers of the road for tearing up the street. The officers were notified, and a conference was held in the mayor's office. The solicitor insisted that the company had no right to lay a switch or to tear up the street for any purpose without permission of council, and he would do all in his power to prevent it. The officers of the street railroad company insisted that their franchise gave them the right to lay new switches or change the ones already in position whenever the improvement of the service demanded it. However, they were not disposed to have any trouble over it, and agreed to get permission from the street committee of the council and the city engineer, which the solicitor said would be necessary. This was satisfactory all around, and the solicitor decided not to push the proposed prosecution.

Two of the members of the committee, Merrill and Berthold, have consented to allow the work to go on, but the third member, the chairman, Mr. Winter, is out of the city, and it will not be resumed until his return, unless satisfactory to all concerned.

The improved service will be very acceptable to patrons of the road, and marks an important epoch in the progress and success of that valued institution. Under the new schedule there will be a car every 7½ minutes within the city limits, the present schedule of a car every fifteen minutes prevailing outside, and every other car running through to New Boston.

The Prodigal Wives Return.

The two wayward wives of Charley Titton and Chas. Butcher have returned home to their loving husbands after a few weeks pleasure sojourn in Cincinnati. Titton is gone now for parts unknown and Butcher won't have anything to do with his returned sweetheart. The doings of these two couple would furnish first class material for a highly sensational novel.

Going to Cincinnati.

STOLE HIS WIFE.

Abe Smith Sues His Wife's Mother and Brother for $10,000.

Claims That They Alienated Her Affections—Next Week Will Be a Lively One at the Court House—The Daily Routine in the Several County Offices.

Abe Smith, the well known tailor, today filed suit in common pleas court against Mrs. Fanny and Simon Labold for $10,000 for alienating the affections of his wife. It is the culmination of domestic troubles which have existed for some months and which are familiar to all friends of the parties.

The plaintiff and Miss Esther Labold were married in this city August 6, 1889, and the first four years of their married life was spent at Columbus. They later moved to this city, Mr. Smith becoming a member of the firm of Haus, Schwartz & Smith. The husband says in his petition that they lived happily together up to July 20th, when, without any fault of his, she left him and has since refused to live with him. At that time and before they were living and boarding with her mother, Mrs. Fanny Labold on East Second street.

There the wife became under the control and influence of her mother and brother, the defendants named. Mr. Smith says that up to that time they lived peaceably and happily being storing upon each other all the love, care and attention that is proper and that could be desired between husband and wife. She never complained of his treatment or of their circumstances, having full access to his earnings and savings. He says that the mother and brother maliciously and wickedly contrived to injure him, to destroy his peace and happiness, and to deprive him of the comfort, society and services of his wife. It was not for any justifiable motive, or for her protection but by reason of their malice and ill-will toward the plaintiff and for selfish and mercenary purposes that they alienated her affections and induced her to leave him. He says they have since denied him admittance to the house where she is staying and have prevented any communication between them. He has been unable to induce her to return to him as his wife. He asks for damages in the sum of $10,000. Theo. K. Funk is the plaintiff's attorney.

AN APPEAL.

An appeal was filed today in common pleas court from the decision of the probate court in the matter of exceptions to the account of Cynthia S. Gibson, administratrix of Abashai Rockman.

PREPARING FOR NEXT WEEK

Clerk Whitley is busy preparing the court docket for the September term, which commences next Monday. The printed bar docket of 40 pages contains 250 cases, but a number of suits have been filed since and there will probably be 25 or 30 more cases before court convenes. With the sitting of the grand jury, the calling of the civil docket and other business incident to the opening of court, next week will be a lively one at the court house. The docket is a large one, and the term promises to be unusually long and of especial interest in some respects.

FIVE AND COSTS

Is What Nathan Culp Will Pay for Beating His Wife.

Nathan Culp, a Carey's run citizen, was up before "Squire Foster yesterday afternoon on the charge of abusing his family. Culp got drunk a few days ago and going home, proceeded to kick members of his family about in a promiscuous manner. One of his daughters was seriously ill at the time. It seems this has been a common practice with Culp. On one occasion he fired a shot gun off once or twice in the house, frightening members of the family. He was fined $5 and costs by "Squire Foster and put under bonds to keep the peace.

An Artistic and Beautiful Home.

Harry D. Hibbs will move into his new home 416 Glover street, next week. Isaac Mead will have the house finished complete this week promptly on the time called for in the contract. Mr. Hibbs' new house will be one of the finest in the city and only goes to show what can be done in the way of artistic workmanship and finish by a little extra outlay for pretty effects in hardward furnishings.

WHAT THE POLICEMEN FIND.

A Prisoner Who Resembles a Wanted Man—A Young Girl, Rescued—Two Drunks—Run in This Afternoon.

Officer Stokley arrested a stranger whose condition had rendered it necessary for him to rest on the sidewalk of Gallia street about 10:30 o'clock last night. He gave the name of James Reed and a card in his pocket indicated that he is a member of the Iron Molders' union of Cincinnati. His resemblance to the photograph and description of a man wanted at Evansville, Ind., was very marked and the officer noted his suspicion on the register slip. A card was received from the marshal of Evansville, Ind., yesterday stating that one Ben Handorf was wanted there for shooting Officer Mike Kelly who is in a critical condition as a result of the wounds. The card stated the fugitive was between 22 and 25 years of age, 5 feet 11 inches in height, weighing about 165 pounds and with smooth face. A photo was attached and Reed answered the description remarkably well except in a few points.

Daisy Kirkendall, the young girl arrested at the "Peach Orchard" yesterday afternoon, accompanied her mother to Henley this morning. Although not yet 18 years of age the girl has been married, being now separated from her husband. She came here several weeks ago to visit a brother-in-law, and while here met other girls of easy virtue and entered a life of shame. The old lady is the mother of Charles Vastine, the supposed murderer of Finn. The girl appeared indifferent and was not the least penitent. It was the intention to keep her at the city prison over night, but the mother begged to be allowed to take her out and keep her with relatives over night and was permitted to do so, the girl promising to return home with her mother this morning.

A small boy called at the mayor's office this afternoon and reported that a drunk man was creating general consternation on Third street. The offender was arrested and registered as Mr. Minor.

Tom Bush and a razor were locked up this afternoon by Officer Ingols. Tom will tell the mayor tomorrow whether he was drunk or not.

AT HIS DESTINATION.

Dr. Frye Arrives at High Bridge, Ky. With His Wife's Corpse—He Is In No Hurry.

A special to a Cincinnati paper from Lexington, Ky. says: When the Cincinnati Southern train pulled into the High Bridge station shortly before noon Tuesday a tightly sealed wooden box was deposited on the platform at the feet of a queer little man and three shaggy headed little toos. The train pulled out and a moment later the group was joined by an individual who seemed to come from beneath the cars. The two men picked up the box and carried it off into the hills.

Stories of phantasmic party strolling along the mountain side came across the box, and several of them sat down upon it and began munching peanuts and drinking lemonade. Their merry words gave place to fright and screams of terror when the little man put in an appearance, and said in his quiet, even, eerie way: "You are making inventory of a corpse. The body of my wife is in that box." He was Dr. T. J. Frye, who had come all the way from West Virginia to fulfill the dying request of his beloved wife, that she might be buried in her native soil. She was a Jesseville country girl, and he married her near High Bridge many years ago. The three children were of that union, and the other man was John Harris, who had been with Dr. Frye on his mission of love, and with him had been arrested at Portsmouth, O., under suspicion of crime, as detailed in the Enquirer several days ago. Mrs. Frye died in July, 1893, and her remains have since been kept in the tightly sealed box, the husband being too poor to grant her request. The doctor says he is in no hurry to bury his wife's body, but will probably do so Sunday.

"Portsmouth Young Men."

"Portsmouth Young Men," Vol. 1, No. 1 was issued this morning. It is a small four page paper published by the Y. M. C. A. Secretary E. H. Lowman editing it and will be issued weekly. It will contain news of the Association, announcements of committee meetings, receptions, etc and select matter of interest to members of the association. Such a publication is supported by most associations and this one will doubtless prove a success and a valuable help in the work.
